Please, as a Flight Attendant, I am begging you to NOT allow Cellular Telephone use during flight. Our world in the "Tube" is hectic enough without having everyone trying to out talk the person next to them. The noise level on the planes is already quite high with the engines, people's normal conversations and movies playing on personal DVD players. If we allowed Cell Phone use as well, this cabin noise would be increased at least two or three-fold. There is also the issue of in-air emergencies. If we were to have an emergency of any kind, we would have to try to conduct the proper action while others are talking on the phone, possibly missing vital information that could save their or another's life. There is also an issue of terrorists being able to communicate with each other in coordinating a possible attack. Not a good idea.
Again, I ask that the FCC not allow Cell Phone use during flight. Please for my sanity as well as my passenger's safety.
